C-C MEM'SHIP UP IN BG

BELLE GLADE—Preliminary reports indicate that Chamber of Commerce membership renewals and new members are ahead of last year at the midway point in enrollment, it was reported by Mrs. Edwina Young, Chamber secretary, this week.

At the regular meeting of the chamber directors, with George Wedgworth, president, presiding, membership statistics presented showed that encouraging results are being derived from circular letters sent out several weeks ago requesting renewals or new memberships in the chamber. No formal "drive" for members is being conducted this year, Mrs. Young reported.

Nominating Committee President Wedgworth appointed a nominating committee and the membership accepted the budget committee report. The directors voted to participate in the Everglades Fair and to take an exhibition booth.

Bill Graber reported that the Jaycees had agreed to be in charge of this year's fishing tournament and will be responsible for all detailed administration. (Continued on Page 8)

In the next year, 110,000 people will contract tuberculosis, the National Tuberculosis Association reports.

Tuberculosis, a major communicable disease, can be cured, but it is much easier to cure when discovered early.

The Palm Beach County Federation of Women's Clubs, co-operating with the Palm Beach County Tuberculosis and Health Association, has taken on the task of providing volunteers for a mass chest X-ray survey scheduled for the county, and the Belle Glade and Pahokee Women's Clubs are serving in their communities.

The full Glades schedule, for all persons 15 years or older to report for a free, one-minute chest X-ray, paid for in part by the Christmas Seal sales, is as follows:

CAMERA REPORT: Cattle Casualty

UNUSUAL ACCIDENT which killed 13 cattle and only narrowly missed killing several humans occurred on Belle Glade-Pahokee Rd. Monday morning when a small truck driven by H. J. Anderson, Pahokee, pulled out in front of a tractor-trailer loaded with 20 head of cattle, and driven by Frank L. Mahoney, Belle Glade. The heavy truck plunged into the canal. Mahoney escaped death by getting out through the open window of the cab. The cattle drowned or killed themselves trying to escape, one swam off down the canal and later was killed by an automobile. Seven were rescued, one going Franklin Sheffield, of Belle Glade, in the thigh. Pictures above show, on left, (l-r) Norman Kennedy, Pahokee, whose truck was used to remove dead cattle late Monday afternoon; Mervin Sutton, Pahokee, and Carl Dean, of Parrish Bros. Wrecker Service, Belle Glade. Dean worked in the canal most of the day to salvage cattle and truck. Picture at right shows the crashed truck, owned by Irvin Burnett, Belle Glade, its cab almost submerged and a dead steer hung up at left foreground. The truck was en route to pick up more cattle at Glades Livestock Market before continuing on its way to the purchaser, Don Stein, of Max Bauer Packing Co., Miami. PAYOFF RULES ARE CITED

SOUTH BAY — Saying that the new loading ramp ordinance does not prevent growers and labor contractors from paying off wherever they wish provided it is off the street, city commissioners Monday night clarified provisions of the new ordinance.

Mrs. Gladys Mitchell appeared before the commission to find out whether she could continue her 30-year practice of paying labor in her store. She said that in the past traffic was congested at her place of business but that "Not one dime has ever been carried into the street to pay off."

Ordinance Provisions

Commissioner W. C. Allen explained to Mrs. Mitchell that the ordinance did not prevent persons from paying workers at places other than the designated ramp. City Attorney Claude Jones read the ordinance and pointed out that growers and labor contractors may pay off anywhere they wish so long as "it does not cause traffic congestion, and if people stay off the street." Mayor S. J. Fisher and Commissioners I. P. Roberts and F. W. Kelley expressed their appreciation to Mrs. Mitchell for her interest in appearing.

Schools Cooperating In Migrant Studies

BY JANE RIEKER

A progress report on the first "experimental pilot project on the education of migrant children" in the U. S. shows that Glades teachers and the Palm Beach County school system are working hard at trying to help migrant children keep up with their schooling.

At the same time, the report shows there is no quick and easy way to teach and to keep an educational eye on the children who with their parents rove the nation following the harvests.

Miss Elizabeth Sutton, supervisor of migrant education, who began work in the Glades schools last fall on the pilot project, said that the teachers and principals of the Glades schools, as well as some of the Parent-Teacher Associations and the Belle Glade Inter-Racial Council, are cooperating wholeheartedly with the migrant education study.

Reports Work

She reported as follows:

"Two teachers in one of the larger schools volunteered for their classrooms to be the pivot classrooms with which we are experimenting with the improvement of reading.

"One school is making plans to include practical home making experiences as an integral phase of instruction for their fifth and sixth grades.

"Several teachers are experimenting with the use of experience reading charts and records with older children.

"One faculty has arranged for additional instructional time to give some of their children in reading and arithmetic. This involves cooperative instruction on the part of six teachers.

"One school hopes to make several case studies of migrant children this year.

"In other classrooms we have worked more specifically on determining each child's instructional reading level, and organizing flexible reading groups and materials to meet needs of all children.

"Scrapbooks and individual books of experience reading are being made by several children to take along with them when they move.

The pilot project is furnishing school transfer records in plastic cases, for migrant children to carry from state to state in their school bags. The records are being used in the 10 eastern states to help both schools and migrants in providing the necessary information on the child's education at previous locations, Miss Sutton said.

However, much of the responsibility for the transfer of the records lies with the migrants, and the school's best efforts to keep track of the children from state-to-state is no avail if the child just "disappears."

"Lost Children

An example is a child now "lost," whose record was not picked up at the last school she attended before the family left Virginia for the Glades.

Her record as forwarded by the Virginia school shows that the eight-year-old is a second grader, has a good attendance record when she is in school, but in the month of September, 1954, she was absent only eight days in a school in New York state, and then four days in Virginia.

The family disappeared again.

Enemy Planes Would Come In This Way, Military Thinks, So Ground Observer Volunteers Needed Round-the-Clock

With the Glades Ground Observer Corps alerted to go on full-time round-the-clock duty "within the next few months," GOC volunteers are needed, and badly, for training ready for duty.

Mrs. Leon Spooner, GOC supervisor for Pahokee, asked First Lt. Warren N. Virgetts, of the Air Force information services, to tell OBSERVER what lies behind the call for a 24-hour duty at the Glades posts.

This is what he told this newspaper:

SECOND BAND CONCERT SUN.

PAHOKEE—High school band members will present the second band concert of the season in the high school auditorium at 3:30 with Director Robert O. Lampi on the podium, it was announced this week.

The band has just returned from a tour of duty in the Pacific and it goes next Friday to Lake Worth to parade in the Fiesta del Sol pageant. The 60-piece band has been brought to full strength with the return to school of Neely Johnson and Harry B. Elarbee after an extended absence on account of accident and illness.

Val Gabaldon will be heard in a saxophone solo in the second part of Sunday's concert and the clarinet quartet comprising Marie Henderson, Judy Starling, Bill McIlwain and Carolyn Hickerson will be heard in the third part of the concert, it was announced.

"This full mobilization is a result of the increased tension in the world situation. You probably know that Russia is capable of sending bombers to attack 89 of our larger coastal cities."

"The part that the people of South Florida play in our Air Defense set-up is a very important one. Any aircraft coming from the south and intending to strike at some of our important A-bomb plants in Tennessee or even some of our larger coastal cities and A-bomb plants in the south would probably start their infiltration from the south."

"By getting reports on these aircraft from our South Florida posts, the Air Defense Command can have interceptors waiting before the enemy can do any damage. You can see that (they) are as important as one in New York City. In fact, it is more important, because of giving early warning."

Lt. Virgetts' message for the residents of the Glades arrived this week, several days before the Atomic Energy Commission (Continued on Page 5)

SCOUTS NEEDING FUNDS, MANPOWER

Mrs. E. W. Brandes was guest speaker and related incidents of her recent visit to Cuba, describing the customs of the people, their gardening activities, sugar cane production, and the vacation possibilities of the country. She was introduced by O. H. Sheppard, program chairman.

Plans were made for observance of Ladies Night, next Monday night. A group of high school musicians will furnish music for the event which will feature a chicken dinner. A contribution was voted for the heart fund.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Sen. George Smathers
WASHINGTON — America and the free world have nothing to cheer about in the upheaval in the Communist government.

Replacement of comparatively mild-mannered Georgi Malenkov, with the militarist, Nikolai Bulganin, seems as ominous as anything which has happened of this nature in recent history.

There is a familiar, foreboding pattern in the new make-up of the Soviet government. Anytime you have a militarist as front man, with a "strong man" behind the scenes manipulating the ostensible leaders, you may look for trouble. There are nightmarish features to the world picture as a result; there are Machiavellian aspects of the world Communist conspiracy which is blood-chilling.

But if the Soviet Communist leaders, if the China Communist leaders, believe they can frighten the United States they can frighten the United States. They are making bad mistakes like those that led to the downfall of Hitler and other tyrants. Dictators before him, Americans by nature are peaceful and forthright, anxious to pursue all honorable means to avoid conflict and war. But the people also are courageous, resolute, and capable; neither covetous of other lands nor cringing in the face of a slight; proud for peace and yet eager to defend our rights. Our hope and prayers now are that reckless, power-mad men will not mistake our temper and force us to substitute efforts at destruction for those of negotiation.

WESTERN HEMISPHERE ALLIES: Disturbing reports reached me last week about economic and political difficulties encountered by the new democratic government of Guatemala which recently resorted to armed revolution to overthrow a Communist-dominated government. Because it is vitally important to the United States, and the entire western hemisphere, to keep freedom alive in our good neighbor countries, I made strong appeals for action in talks with Harold Stassen, head of FOA, State Department officials, and the export-import Bank. I am pleased that these agencies are moving to aid Guatemala and to increase assurances that this erstwhile "Red beachhead" cannot be re-established. (What subsequently happened in Communist Russia strengthens my arguments for stronger alliances among the Americans.)

MEANING TO FLORIDA: I have been asked why I was devoted so much time to efforts to help Latin America, when Florida had pressing problems to attend to. Of course, I am trying to do both.

But I know of few things of such vital importance to Florida as is the building of stronger trade and cultural ties with our good neighbors to the south. Cuba alone brought 87 million worth of American goods, many of them in Florida, which passed through Florida ports, providing much employment, along the line. Latin America last year bought $3.1 billion of U.S. goods.

But the year before, in 1953, Latin America had bought $4.2 billion worth of U.S. goods. This was 23 percent of all our exports. Latin America is second only to Europe as our best customer. It is of vital importance to Florida that we recapture more markets, get those lost dollars back into Florida pockets.

HIGH SCHOOL AID: Recognizing the national shame of overcrowded classrooms and lack of educational facilities, I am sponsoring a number of my colleagues of a measure to aid school construction. We recognize that some enthusiasts will seek to pervert the proposal, but the need is so great we took the "calculated risk" we hope the Congress will follow President Eisenhower's assumption regarding his own proposal.

"It accelerates construction of classrooms within the traditional framework of local responsibility. The Federal aid in a form that tends to lead to federal control of our schools could cripple education for freedom."

Small Business Administration has assured me in the face of rumors that there is no plan to disturb the operation of the Florida SBA office.

NEWS BREVITIES: Fish and Wildlife Service now has additional $33,000 for Red Tide research, considerably extending experimental work already underway toward controlling this Gulf coast menace. . . . Flood control work is picking up speed, with a Mar. 1 bid opening on construction of levees 2 and 3 (Hendry-Broward-Palm Beach counties). . . . Have taken new assignment as chairman Small Business committee on Military Procurement, seeking to insure small businesses get an even break with big corporations in armed services buying. This insures a busy spring (investigations already are underway).

MAKING IT TASTE BETTER

Serve it with Holsum

BY SCHATZI

Why don't they flavor 'em? Having finally gotten my paw out of the Kleenex box, and arrived at the last (and most unpleasant) stages of my head cold, I have drawn a few conclusions.

The first and most obvious, of course, is that there is no quick cure for colds. Only thing to do with one is relax and enjoy it.

But surely there are a few unexplored ways to enjoy a cold.

Kleenex should be flavored, for instance.

At least for dogs, but probably for people, too.

I would like a nice beef or chicken flavored Kleenex, for instance, so that when I inhale it accidentally it will string me pleasantly instead of unpleasantly. If a few other flavors were offered, such as orange and chocolate, people enjoying bad colds could ruminate with gusto.

Then you take Vicks. Please do. Take it far.

I have gotten so tired of the flavor of Vicks that I may never again be able to enjoy a sufferer of creme de menthe.

I suggest that cold sufferers be given the opportunity to buy Vicks in assorted flavors. Perhaps the menthol or whatever could be built in unobtrusively, leaving a major taste of — say spoonbread, or barbecued ribs.

When there is the matter of pills.

I have a terrible time swallowing them, as does Boss No. 2. Every time I have to be fed a pill, there is a major wrestling match. Usually winds up with somebody ramming it down my gullet by force.

Maybe it's because pills are so unguisidely pills.

Perhaps if pill-type medicine could be made into the shape of little steak bones, or drumsticks, or candy bars, we could get 'em down easier.

Kind of relieve the mental block, or something.

Well, just thought I'd give the cold treatment people some pretty doozy ideas to make colds more popular.

One thing sure, a cold certainly helps a dog catch up on her sleep.

Stations. The release is in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In two years of commercial trials in southern Florida, the new variety has impressed growers with its performance. They have requested a commercial seed supply.

The original Homestead variety was released in 1952. It has proven popular with growers, in spite of considerable variability in plant type.

Homestead No. 2 has been selected and developed in cooperation with the Southeastern Vegetable Breeding Laboratory, Charleston. It has the same near-immunity to fusarium wilt as the original variety, is uniformly semi-determinate and produces more nearly globe-shaped fruit. Productivity and size are believed to equal that of Homestead.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 1

New Federal Tax Law May Save You Money

(This is one of a series of articles on income tax changes. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants and the Florida Institute of Certified Public Accountants.)

The "idea of March" no longer holds any terror for the average taxpayer, but the new tax deadline of April 15 can be just as alarming if you don't start early to prepare your federal income tax return.

To help you understand this new deadline, we are publishing a series of articles prepared with the help of the national and state organizations of certified public accountants. Use these articles, together with the instructions that come with your federal income tax return, to guide you in making out your return.

Most taxpayers report their income for the calendar year on a cash basis, and their new rules are explained here as they apply to these typical taxpayers. Anyone who uses a different fiscal year or reports on an accrual basis should check the official instructions to see how he is affected.

Completely Revised Tax Rules

Last August the Internal Revenue Code was completely overhauled. Congress and thousands of changes were made affecting taxpayers. It is these articles, together with the instructions that come with your federal income tax return, to guide you in making out your return.

With the many changes of the new law there is even greater need for a new code book. The new code book is now available. It contains the new rules, read the instructions and prepare your tax return with gusto.

For more information on the new law before April 15. Here's another: You May Get A Refund

If you find that more tax has been withheld from your pay than you actually owe, you will be entitled to a refund of the difference. The sooner you file a refund claim, the sooner you are likely to get your refund.

What are the chances of a refund? Well, your tax will probably be less because of the reduction of the standard deduction.

Next article: Insert a Little Time in Saving Tax $2500.

At the conclusion in Sikes office of the delegation and chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Paul Butler. This is the first time that a Democratic chairman ever has met with the delegation in such a meeting.

And although no one who was there will talk about what went on behind the closed door, it is fairly certain that they didn't talk just about Florida fishing and Florida weather.

A LOOK-SEE: If you want to sell somebody something, show it to them. And Senator Holland is doing just that. The entire subcommittee of Public Works of the Senate Appropriations Committee has been invited to visit Florida and look over the proposed flood control plan.

Those who have accepted include Senators Allen J. Ellender, Louisiana, A. Willis Robertson, Virginia, and Milton R. Young, North Dakota. (Now that a blizzard has hit Washington, others no doubt will come along.) The group will be met in Tampa by Senators Holland and Smathers. They will be given a look at the port of Tampa and hear again the arguments for digging a better channel. Afterwards, they will tour the Lake Okechobee area.

MORE ABOUT FORMOSA-TAIWAN

Chinese historical records reveal that China undertook an expedition against Formosa as early as 203 A.D. Bands of Japanese are said to have conquered parts of the island in the 12th century and from the 15th century onward the eastern half of Formosa was officially regarded by Japan as her possession.

In 1590 the Portuguese were the first Europeans to visit the island. Shortly thereafter the Spaniards attempted to found a permanent settlement there but were prevented from doing so by the Dutch. The Dutch took the Pescadore in 1621. In 1624 they established themselves on the southeast coast of Formosa and built a fortified town named Zeelandia.

According to Funk and Wagnall Encyclopedia, the fall of the Ming dynasty in China, when it was overthrown by the Manchus, marked the beginning of a new era in Formosa. This was due to the fact that the Spaniards, who had been driven out of the Dutch prior to occupying a considerable portion of the island. By the end of the 17th century the Ming leaders were forced to capitulate to the Manchus invading from the Chinese mainland. Formosa then became a part of the Chinese Empire and immigration from the mainland greatly increased.

The name "Formosa" derives from the Portuguese word meaning "beautiful." In 1487 Bartholomew Diaz sailed around the tip of Africa and opened the sea route to the Orient. His voyage followed the policy of Prince Henry the Navigator of systematic exploration of the uncharted oceans of the world.

30 Tons of Water Weekly Required to Provide One Person With Life's Needs

(Editor's Note: The American Watershed Council is a national non-profit organization which is interested in the conservation of water for local people and that the nation's economy can best be strengthened by encouraging broader community interest in development of natural resources.)

By Edwin R. Cotton, President
American Watershed Council, Inc.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(Special)—If a sign inscribed: "It requires 30 tons a week of this precious water to maintain my standard of living," were hung on every faucet in America, people taking an active part in preservation of the nation's water resources would be numbered in millions, not thousands.

When this 30 tons of water is compared with the one-third of a ton of all other materials, such as food, timber, metals and coal, it is required to support a person for a week, its value to the people is readily seen. Yet its share of the family and industrial budget is infinitesimal. Each of our $365 billion annual economy. Of this amount, the annual water bill is only about $3 billion.

Water is the lifeblood of a nation. In abundance and properly managed, it spells prosperity and growth. But in most of America water is so commonplace that people rarely think of it as a natural resource to be carefully guarded.

It is especially to the great power of the water projects is demonstrated by the fact that industries, municipalities, states and the federal government have invested about $40 billion in water projects. No one here feels that with our scientific knowledge we face a serious water shortage in the foreseeable future. However, conservationists recognize that no matter what is done there will be periodic local shortages, that some sections will be visited by costly floods and, under certain conditions, erosion will continue to blight our soil. They are aware too that in spite of major efforts by industries and local governments, many urban areas still have a serious water contamination problem.

There are many things that must be done if we are to make and keep our water pure and in abundance. It is a job for local agencies—local people, local businesses, local groups, municipalities and states working together with the federal government, helping with the planning and financing only when called upon to do so, or when the job is too big for local bodies.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Swiftly Gets Slowed Down

Swiftly Fisher has a short temper and really hit the roof when he got a parking ticket last week. He wasn't near a hydrant or too far from the curb. There was a big sign saying "ONE HOUR PARKING" and he'd only been gone twenty minutes.

Running to Traffic Court, where Hack Miller was on duty, Swiftly hollered how he hadn't done anything wrong... how he is the most law-abiding driver in town.

But Hack examined the ticket, and smiled. "Slow down, friend," he said. "You're not guilty — except of making a big fuss over nothing. This ticket costs you some kid's policeman pay-out!"

From where I sit, jumping to conclusions can make anyone appear silly. Another way to look foolish is to make a quick decision on a question of personal preference. For instance, I like a glass of beer occasionally. You may be a buttermilk man. But neither of us ought to "lay down the law" about the other's choice.

BABIES CRY

Mothers tend to worry when their babies cry and rightly so, because crying is the only way a baby has of indicating that something is wrong. However a certain amount of crying is normal and healthy. A mother who expects it will prevent hours of uneasiness for herself.

It is expected that, in the first few days after birth, the infant will cry vigorously for at least a few minutes several times a day. During the first week, the healthy baby usually cries an average of two hours each 24 hours. Absence of crying at this time may indicate the baby is sick.

Because the baby is young and the mother not yet able to interpret his cries, it is difficult for her to know whether or not he is sick. Usually she is able to quiet him in a matter of seconds. If crying begins almost immediately, it is reasonable to assume that he is uncomfortable or in pain.

He may not be sick because babies cry for a number of other reasons. He may be hungry, he may need a change, the bedclothes may be bunched under him or he may be hot and because many infants cry from temper.

When these and other factors the mother will know are ruled out, then it is time to seek the doctor's advice.

All babies will not follow the usual pattern of crying. Some of them settle into an uninterrupted cry of good humor and break it only when a physical injury occurs such as a fall.

As difficult as it is to refrain, the mother should not rush to gather up her baby each time he cries. Very soon he learns to call for this attention. Of course all mothers want to hold their babies, and they should. However, infants should be taken up as much for smiling as for crying. But many mothers reverse the practice. They hold their babies when they cry but place them in the crib when the crying ceases.

POSTMASTER IS ROTARY SPEAKER

BELLE GLADE — George Farnall, local postmaster, was guest speaker at the regular luncheon meeting of the Belle Glade Rotary Club last Friday.

Postmaster Farnall described the historical background of the United States Post Office Department and pointed out that common sense and business-like methods are being used in the postal service today. These include the use of all possible means of rapid transportation to insure fast mail delivery, later mail pick-up and adjustment of closing hours of the local post office to suit the convenience of local patrons as far as possible.

Farnall told the Rotarians what they could do locally to ease the situation here. He stated that although the office has grown from a fourth class post office to a first class one, people are still thinking in terms of fourth class service. He explained the importance of having mail properly addressed, of having parcels properly wrapped, tied securely, with a return address, using the post office mail sent to points in larger cities.

He extended an invitation to the members of the Rotary Club to visit the local post office and see what happens to mail after it is put in the mail receptacle.

Some children have been observed shooting birds with sling shots, B-B guns, and .22 rifles, etc. Not only is this a violation of the law, but very dangerous to the safety and welfare of other children.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. E. D. Humphries. Dr. Victor Green had charge of the devotions and talked on the responsibilities of the teachers, the parents, and the children.

It was announced that a Family Life Institute would be held at the school Mar. 14-18, taught by Dr. Robert J. Smith, from the general extension division of University of Florida. The following nominating committee was elected to secure the list of officers for the coming year: Mrs. James A. Ball, Jr., Mrs. D. Matthews, Mrs. Dick Townsend, Mrs. Harold McKee, and Mrs. Eastland.

Mrs. Dooley also introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Louis Capron of West Palm Beach. Mrs. Capron pointed out some of the developments that have taken place in our country in the past few years in an effort to point out how the army, operating and improving our school program. Florida, she pointed out, is the third fastest growing state in the union and Palm Beach County is located in the fastest growing part of the state. She showed that in 1932, 10 years the enrollment of 13,752 children, compared to 26,605 children enrolled at the end of January.

She pointed out that the teachers in the county today are much more qualified and mentioned that with the exception of 2 1/2 per cent, all teachers have had at least four years of college training. She ended her talk by saying, "With your continued support and your interest, which is so noble and needed, and which we treasure so much, know we can continue to forge ahead."

Mrs. Lively was hospitality chairman with mothers from the eighth grade assisting. The serving table was laid with a white cloth, centerpieces of blue and gold, with punch bowls at each end, circled with fern and yellow mums. Serving with Mrs.

RDB'S ALLEN IS JAYCEE GUEST

BELLE GLADE — Lamar Allen, assistant manager of the county's Resources and Development Board, was the guest speaker at the Jaycees regular dinner meeting Thursday night at the Municipal County Club.

The meaning of the term "black gold" is just beginning to dawn on the people in other areas of the county, who are just now awakening to the fact that the future of Palm Beach County lies in her soil, he said. He pointed out that the gross worth of agricultural products of last year in Palm Beach County was $68,000,000 with the Glades area producing about $43,000,000 of this amount. The tourist business accounted for $65,000,000 and manufacturing for $25,000,000.

Commenting on the rapid growth of manufacturing or semi-manufacturing in the county, he explained that there were over 650 such plants in the county and that Palm Beach County rates 35th in counties throughout the nation in spendable income.

He explained that the county's economy is just like a three-legged structure, with two long legs being tourists and agriculture and the short one, industry, and that the industrial leg is now being promoted.

He said plans are still going forward to make paper out of saw grass and to develop the possibility of a juke mill which would cost $5,000,000 to build and which would carry with it an estimated yearly payroll of up to $2,500,000; the payroll largest in the summer when industry is at low ebb in the county.

CAP Attendance Urged

CAP Commanding Officer Benny Weeks urges all volunteers to attend the Wednesday night meetings at the CAP headquarters building at Belle Glade Airport. He especially desires mothers to come to the next three meetings in preparation for simulated air-sea rescue to be staged Mar. 13. At that time a pilot will be "lost" in the Big Cypress and the patrol will try to locate and rescue him, Weeks said.

Family-Style Cheese Tray For Dessert

There's nothing quite like a cheese tray to start "oh's" and "ah's" in the family circle. And what a help it is to the dessert-weary meal planner.

The general rule for the choice of cheeses to be used on the cheese tray is easy—choose some mild, some sharp, some soft, some hard. To arouse curiosity, it's fun to include among the favorites one cheese that's new to your family.

For eye appeal, the various cheeses may be cut in wedges, slices, strips, or cubes.

Apples, pears, and grapes are probably the favorite fruits to go with cheese. Others that will provide taste contrasts are bananas, strawberries with stems left on, fresh figs, fresh or preserved kumquats, pineapple wedges, peaches, and apricots.

Walnuts or almonds in the shell, as well as the many varieties of nuts from cashews to peanuts, are mighty good with cheese. A basket of assorted crackers and a dish of butter are a "must."

Here is a tasty, easy spread that can be especially included for the youngsters.

Zippy Cheddar Spread

1/2 pound sharp Cheddar cheese, shredded
1 tablespoon catsup
1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
Dash or two of cayenne or Tabasco sauce

Rub bowl with a cut clove of garlic if desired. Mix together all ingredients and beat well with a fork, rotary beater or electric mixer on moderately low speed. When fluffy, heap in shallow dish or in a half grapefruit shell. Serve chilled. Refrigerate to keep.

B. McClure and Mrs. Jesse Reel to serve on the nominating committee to select a slate of nominees for new officers.

Welcomed into membership were Mrs. Edgar Wilder, Mrs. C. C. Lemonds, and Mrs. J. T. Platt. Announcement was made of the State Garden Club meeting to be held in Jacksonville Apr. 14 through 16.

Members voted to get permission from the State Road Department to plant royal palms on E. Main St. and as far north as possible. Mrs. Meredith reported on work done at the city parks.

Mrs. Leo Maxwell, program chairman, presented Mrs. Claude Shirley and Mrs. Frank Friend who spoke on color and flower arrangements. The latter gave a reading "I Married a Flower Arranger." There were 20 present. Mrs. Anderson conducted a tour of her gardens.

PROGRESS

THE PORT OF HOUSTON, SECOND LARGEST IN THE NATION, VISION INITIATIVE RESOURCEFULNESS

50 Miles from the Gulf

A greater America tomorrow depends largely upon continuing harbor and channel development—but according to George H. Palmer, Publisher of The Marine News of New York, during the past two years such work has been allowed to dwindle to almost nothing.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954, only $3,144,000, a little less than four thirds of one per cent of the Army Civil Functions Appropriation is provided for actual harbor and channel widening and deepening in only eight states. The Nation has a coast line of some 30,000 miles (Great Lakes included) along which are more than 200 harbors with many of them needing more depth and area. Many channels need straightening, widening and deepening; many canals need straightening, widening and deepening; many canals need straightening, widening and deepening; many canals need straightening, widening and deepening.

Palmer says that real federal economy is efficient management, waste avoidance and spending that adds to assets and productiveness. The development of the past contributed tremendously to the America of today through its fine ports, harbors and channels. They are tremendously important in the economic progress of the Nation, and vital both during peace and war.

Who knows what future harbors and channels may become indispensable to the Nation, and when? The Marine News says many a present cannot take care of modern deep draft vessels; those that at present cannot be strategically located or available at a critical time, are not only security safeguards; they are needed to care for the Nation's expanding industry and commerce and to accommodate larger and deeper vessels.

The natural harbors and channels of America are unrivaled in all the world. They are yet largely undeveloped. Unless it is realized that a development and expansion have been almost completely abandoned and that a reasonable program must be resumed immediately, great potential benefits will not be available for many years.
